Characteristics of educators—intelligence, ability to communicate, and leadership. Some teachers, however, are gifted with additional attributes—friendship, true understanding of students, and an earnest desire to aid others in their learning. Most important, caring about others is the mark of an outstanding teacher.

Permian students elected two teachers as representatives of concerned educators. Mr. Newt Cooper, Junior Dean, and Mrs. Carol Dial, English teacher, exemplify those gifted teachers. They have not only qualified as knowledge-imparters but also have mastered the art of caring.

BOYS STATE AND GIRLS STATE

Four boys represented Permian this past summer at Boys State in Austin. One girl was chosen to attend Girls State, also held in Austin. These students were chosen for their outstanding qualities of citizenship and scholastic abilities.

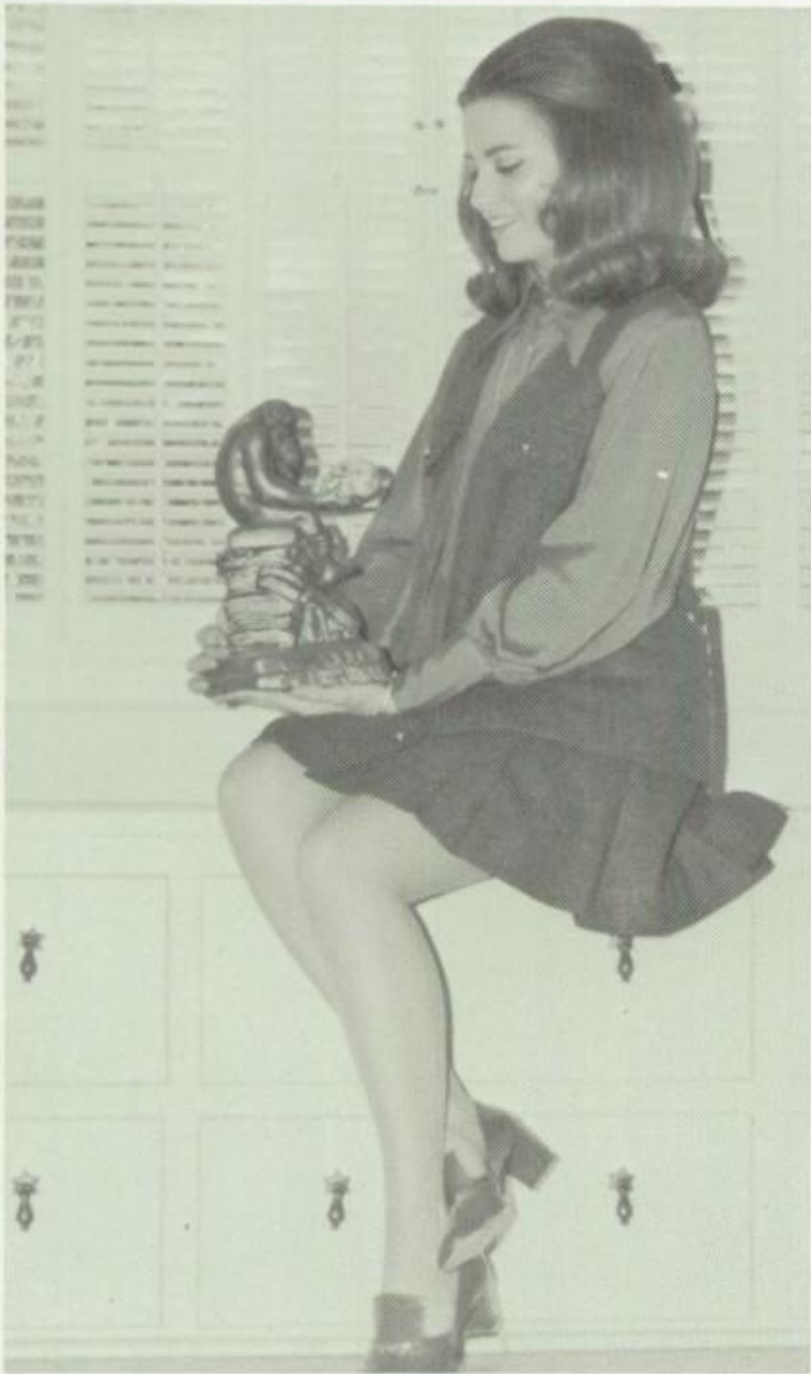

While in Austin, they participated in a detailed study of government. Besides the Senate and House of Representatives affairs, they became active in political campaigns and elections.

We Panthers are proud to have these students as representatives of our school.

Membership in the National Honor Society is one of the highest honors a student can obtain while in high school. To become a member of this organization a student must not only excel in academic achievement but must also have the outstanding qualities of service, character and leadership. While allowing many students to discover the wonder of being, the N.H.S. pays respect to those who seem to have found meaning in their high school life.

Pepettes . . .

Spirit, enthusiasm, and pride in the school make the Pepettes an essential part of school life. From early Monday morning until late Friday afternoon, they can be seen selling everything from beats and buttons to "Mojo Juice."

Elected at the end of their Junior year, these girls begin preparation for the coming year by painting posters and practicing their routines. Their performance begins early in September as they eagerly and successfully encourage and generate outstanding school spirit. They happily take on the enormous job of blending some 2500 scattered voices into one driving Panther force.

"The place that does contain My books, is to me glorious court where hourly, I may converse With the old Sages and philosophers. And sometimes, for variety, I confer with kings and emperors and weigh their consuls." In one room, there is such an interminable amount of knowledge at one's slightest whim. As a new organization at Permian, the Library Club provides a constructive means of participation. Its members help the librarian organize and keep the library and its resources running smoothly.

the permian press . . .

Harried by the clicking of typewriter keys and the hum of many voices, the Permian Press staff works under deadline pressure to give the students an accurate reflection of important moments and various memories. Members of the staff are also allowed to voice various opinions in the form of editorials and features.

To paint a unique montage, we crystalize images of the 1969-70 year. Slowly our treasure mounts as we successfully and continually add to it by careful planning. We want to give you 1969-70 memories—victories as well as defeats. For us it's done—but far from gone.

You mean I'm only worth $1.78?

It seems like only yesterday we were sophomores and only tomorrow we will be seniors.

The Exhibitionists.

Oh, well, some have it and some don't.

Everybody has his own thing!

Great talent at work?

we realize our greater responsibilities
and

A mass jail break in progress.

This'll teach you to steal my Fritos!!

Greater responsibilities often bring greater problems.

Now that the meal's over, bring on the dancing boys!

She's a nice girl but that dandruff!

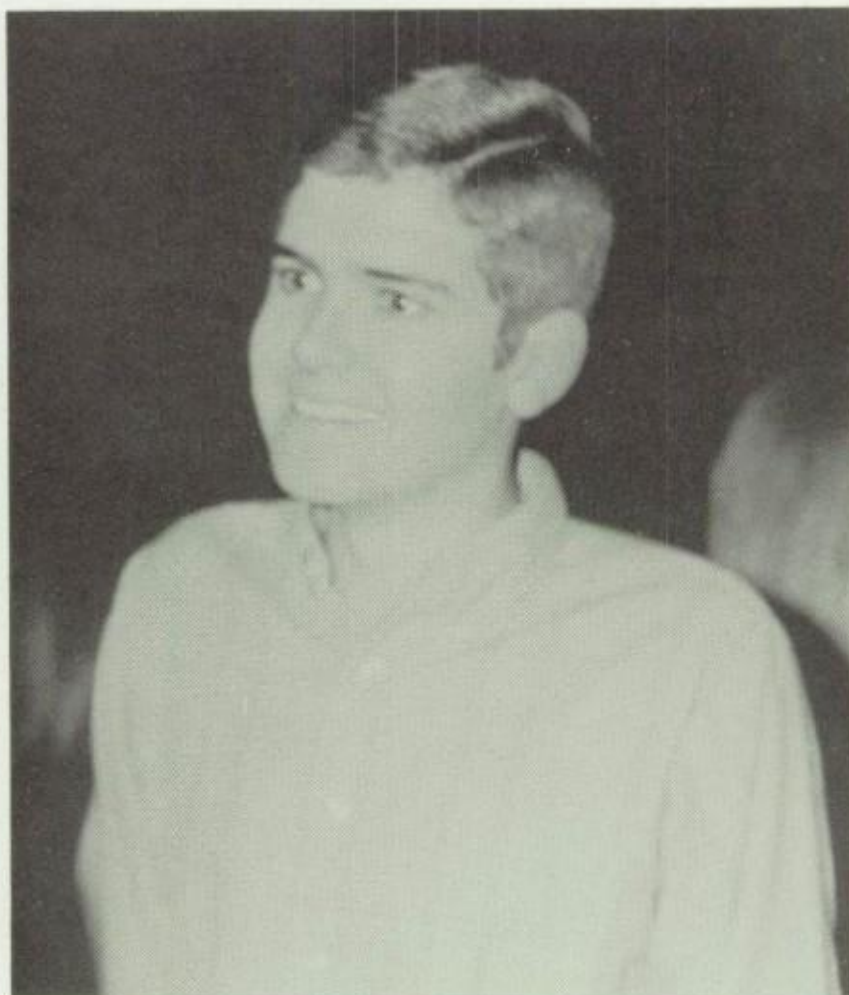

The arrival of an anxiously awaited day.

Who said Indians live on reservations?

prepare for our
final year

Cupid strikes again!

Who was that masked man?

our day will come and

We are now in the middle of the road in our journey through high school. We look back at two wonderful years here and ahead to the most wonderful year of all. Next year, we will be the leaders. We are perhaps the most loyal subjects, for we know Permian well. Our spirit rings throughout the halls, and our perseverance shall mold the success of next year and perhaps years to come.

Mule train.

Our barefoot leader.

Pucker power!

If that hat hits me in the face just once more, Patty, I will personally de-straw it!

Sophomores are a mini-world
Full of mini-skirts and Mini-people with maxi ideas.
Soul brother, true love,
Real peace for mankind,
Fake hair, fake lashes,
Simon and Garfunkel, Turn on, tune in,
It's all quite confusing.

the thrill of belonging

I stand alone.

He kissed me once, but will he kiss me again?

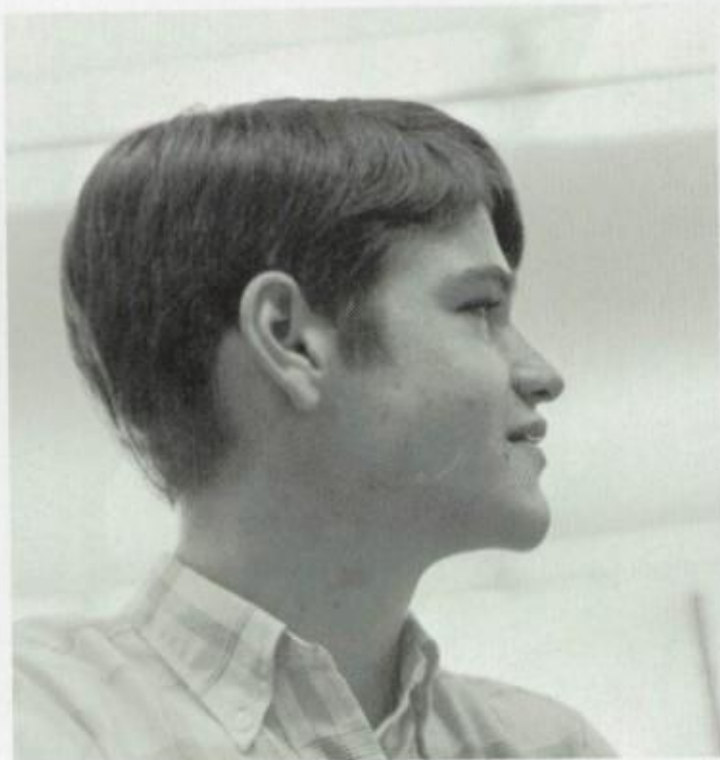

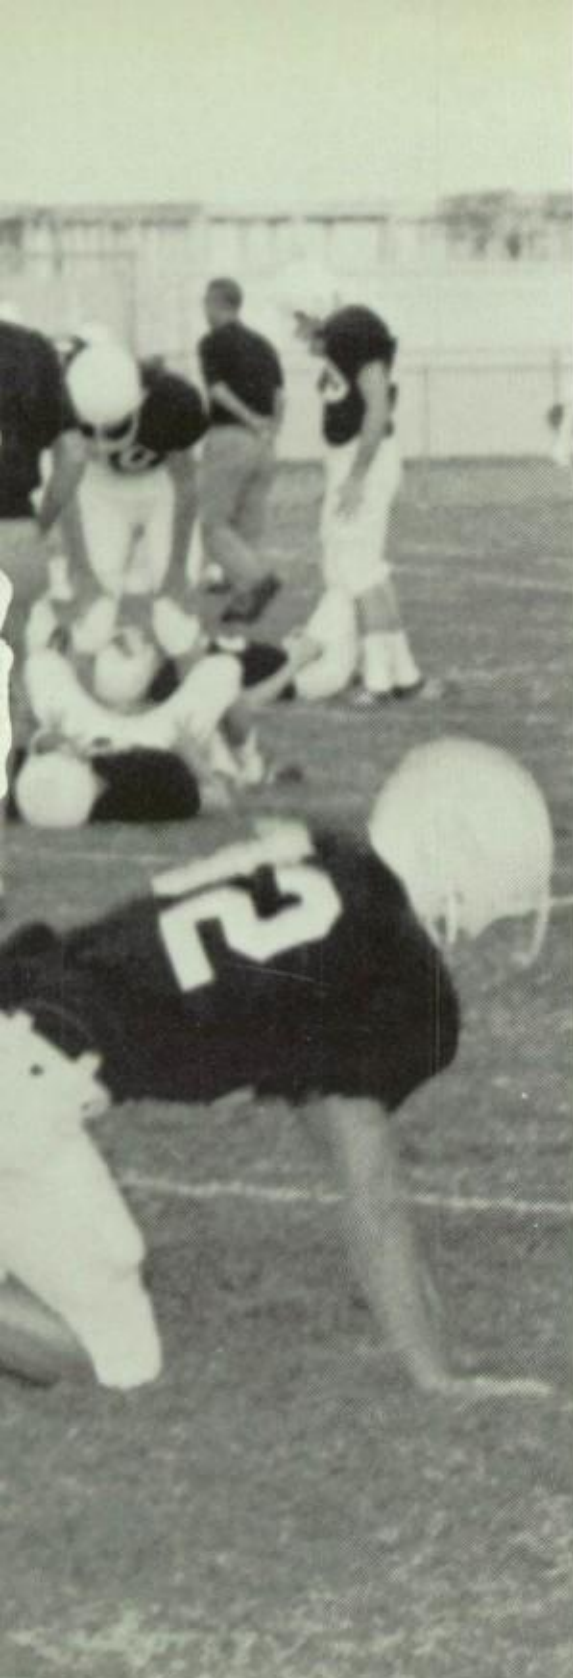

Where the boys are

I'm game if you are.

and we discover that the one face we have never seen

is our own

my face is a kaleidoscopic
image . . .

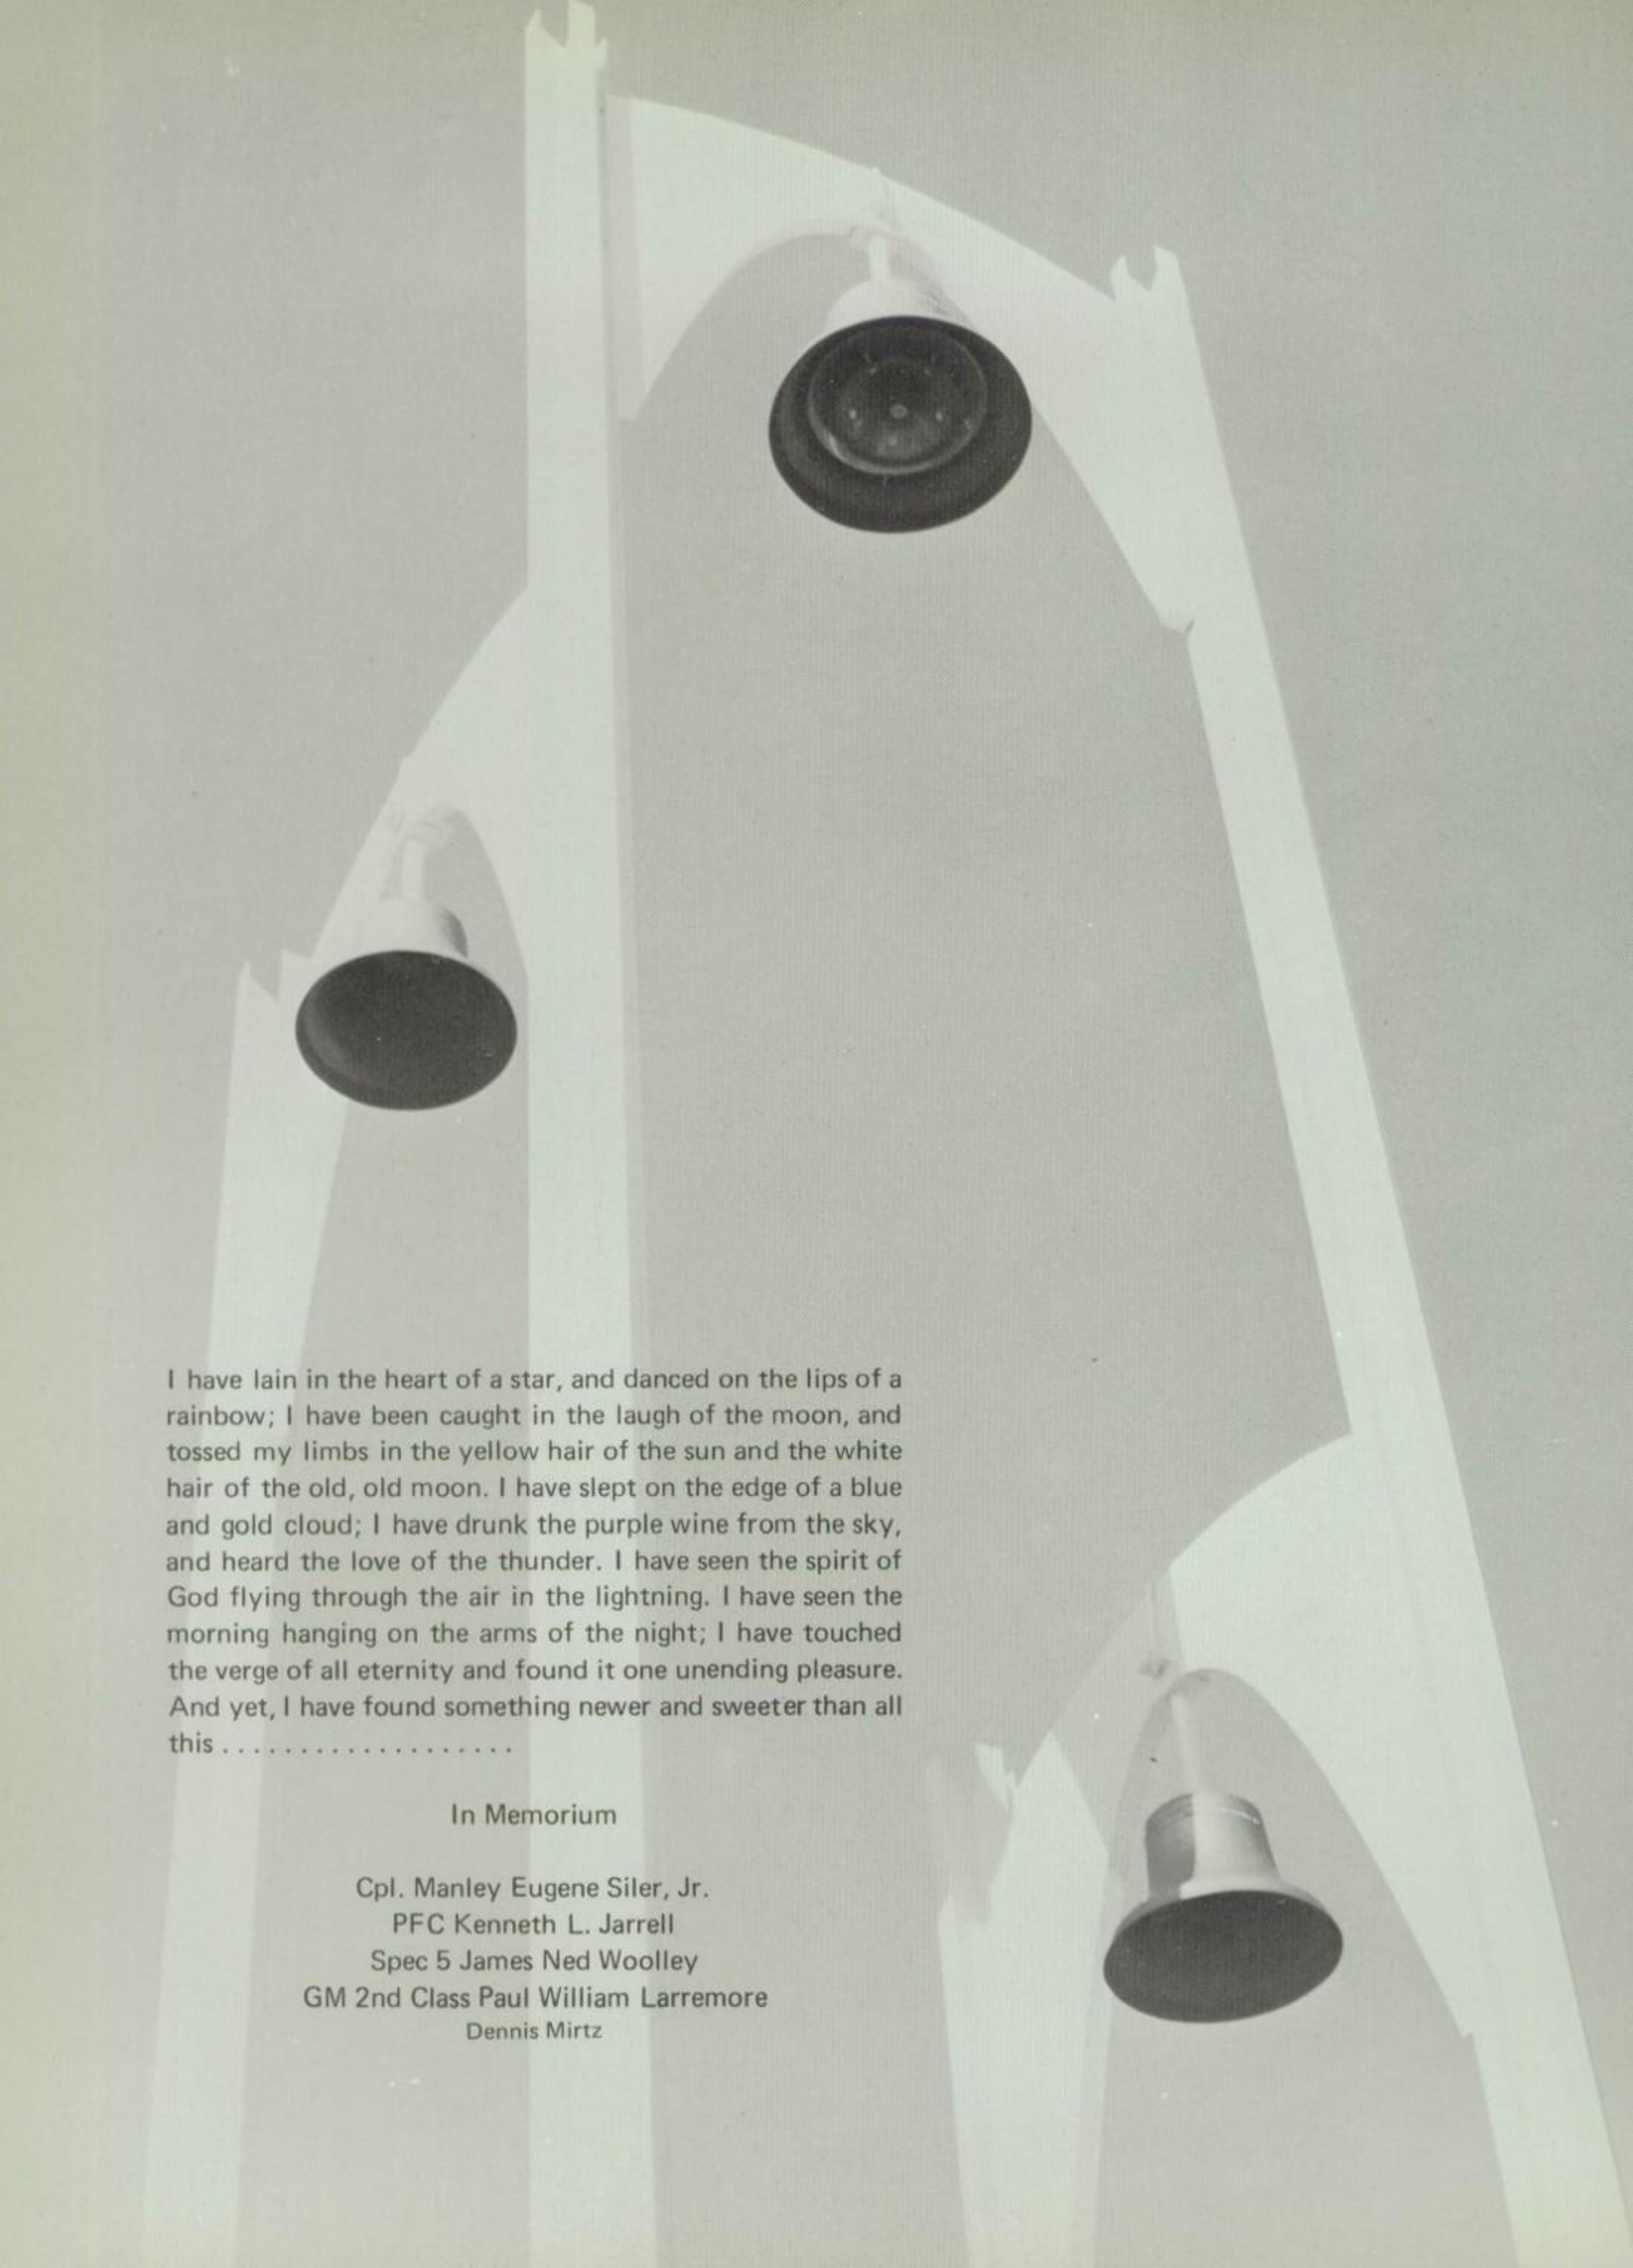

In this chapter in the history of Permian High School, we, the staff of the Panther, have tried to express the many faces of Permian. We have shown you laughing faces, smiling faces . . . the faces of loyalty. These are our faces, yours and mine, because we are a part of Permian.

Permian is always changing faces as a kaleidoscope is always changing color and shape. The container remains the same but the design on the inside varies. The faces Permian has created will move on to more advanced molds but the stamp of Permian will always remain on each face.

We have helped to make this book one of memories and because of it we have learned to love the faces of Permian. We hope that this book of faces will be a well-remembered part of your memories.

Debbie Patton
Vicky Shiley

I have lain in the heart of a star, and danced on the lips of a rainbow; I have been caught in the laugh of the moon, and tossed my limbs in the yellow hair of the sun and the white hair of the old, old moon. I have slept on the edge of a blue and gold cloud; I have drunk the purple wine from the sky, and heard the love of the thunder. I have seen the spirit of God flying through the air in the lightning. I have seen the morning hanging on the arms of the night; I have touched the verge of all eternity and found it one unending pleasure. And yet, I have found something newer and sweeter than all this
